

Online vote for the brightest start-up idea

31 startups entered the Make It Lean Contest organised by Startup Incubator Berlin. The winners will be selected by 1 February 2021 in an online vote. Every vote counts in the public poll.

- The Center for Entrepreneurship at the Berlin School of Economics and Law is rewarding startup ideas that apply the lean startup method
- 31 startups with an academic background entered the competition. All of them were either in the pre-startup phase or up to one year old.
- The winners of the three main prizes valued at €13,000 in total will be selected by 1 February 2021 in an online vote.

An app for renting electric cargo bikes, a video call system without download or registration for web shops and retail and a contact platform for foreign care staff and employers in Germany are competing for the title of the brightest start-up idea in the Make It Lean Contest by Startup Incubator Berlin (SIB). The submitted startup ideas come from the fields of mobility, retail, tourism, learning and self-management, profession and career, sustainability and social affairs, medicine and care, as well as food and real estate.

Interested persons are invited to cast their votes for the 31 startup teams on the website of the Center for Entrepreneurship at the Berlin School of Economics and Law (HWR Berlin) by 1 February 2021. They are all vying for prizes at a total value of €13,000, plus support from SIB.

The contestants have posted a short video pitch of their startup ideas on the website of Startup Incubator Berlin. Interested persons can click on the profile of their favourite contestant to cast their vote.

All startups have an academic background, are in the pre-startup phase or are no more than a year old. They operate based on the lean startup method. This involves the application of mindsets, strategies and tools that help to bring a start-up idea to market maturity in the shortest possible development cycles, with little resource input and regular customer feedback.

The Startup Incubator Berlin supports startups in the development and implementation of their business ideas and brings them into contact with industrial partners. The Make it Lean Contest is an annual event and is more than just a competition for prize money. Exclusive events and direct feedback from business mentors and coaches, the opportunity to build networks and make contact with potential investors accompany the competition from the kick-off to the closing ceremony.

The award ceremony will take place by live stream from 5:00 pm on 11 February 2021.
