Syllabus

During this course, students will gain an insight into the conditions under which European firms operate in a globalised world. They will assess the interrelationships between firms and macroeconomic processes and will discover the impact on the natural environment and human living conditions. Students will explore the challenges posed by the different political cultures within the EU and their implications for further political integration. Students will also become aware of the various types of conflict between global actors and will better understand their causes and potential solutions.
